Dear Sir:-

In balancing our books we find that the account of the State Normal School is overdrawn $92.50.

Miss Dale feels pretty certain that this is the accumulation of exchange charges charged us by the National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co., and if there has been no adjustment of this matter before, she is doubtless correct.

I would now like you to exercise your ingenuity and see how we can get this amount refunded; and as to any future occurrence, the writer will undertake to see that no further exchanges are charged, and we are now writing to our correspondent in Sacramento to have proper forms of transfer made.

Very truly yours,

President.
