

balance in life. Hang onto your pole, for if you lose your grip on it, you lose your balance.

There are two ways to go through life. You can let nature do your balancing for you and be buffeted from one extreme to another as that balancing process takes place, or you can walk a steady course down the middle. If you choose the latter, you must have your pole, for without it, as Herman wallenda said, "you cannot stay on the wire."
