As the Church Calendar, this day is called Epiphany Sunday, the Sunday after Christmas - Epiphany suggests a theme of light to the nations.

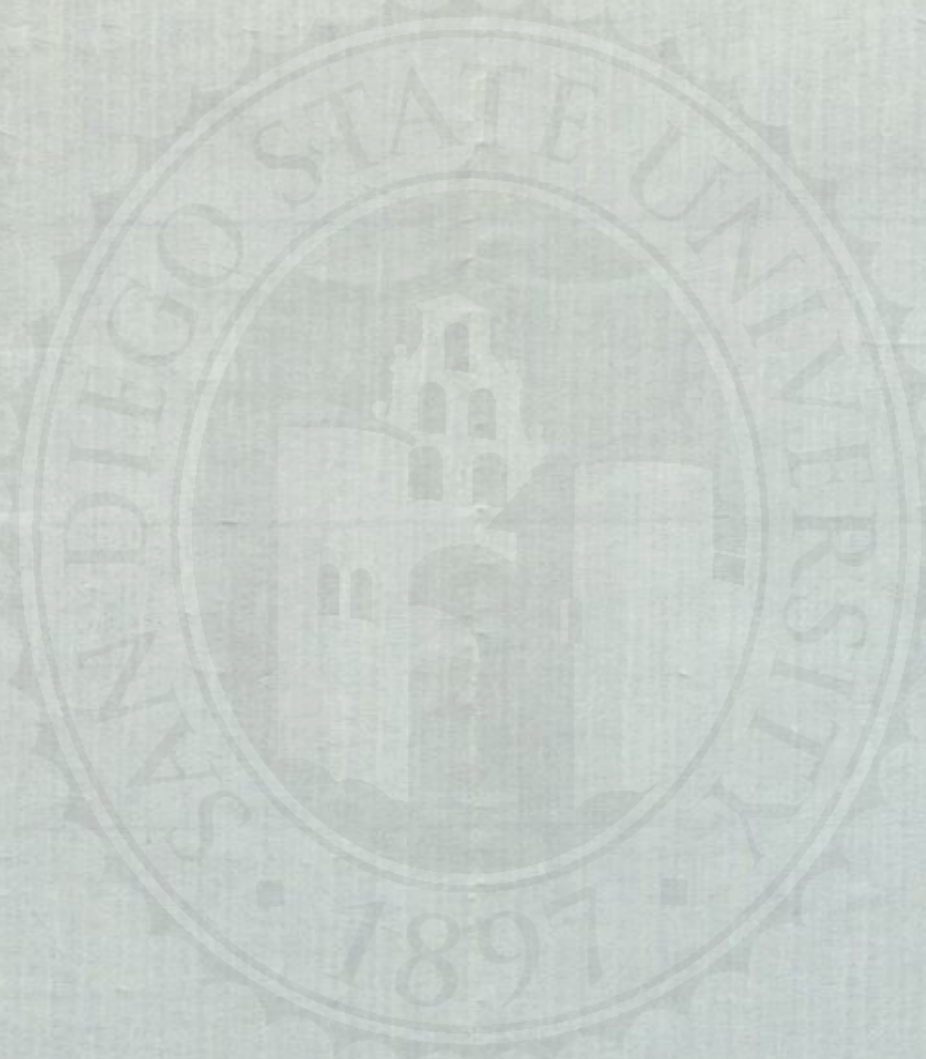

As W.H. Auden, wrote in his work "Three Wise Men":

To discover how to be human now,
 As the reason we follow the star.

Pastoral Prayer:

Hope of the world, holy, loving God, accept what we will offer in love to your Son. We give only what is already your own. Through him, with him, in him lies all that we would give. But we, on the clean straw of this hour of prayer, we lay that to which we have a claim: broken dreams and days, battered wills and bodies, minds both tangled and untraveled. We know, knowing what we have been, in Christ's eyes, let us see what we will be. Let us rise with strength, knowing that he holds our lives in his hands, and in that strength, from that knowing, may we startle the world with the confidence of our ^{hope and the power} _{easy} of our love.
