

This ^{is} time of the year. When we reflect on the memory & life of one who made the greatest impact on America's ~~Society~~ social future scene, since President Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, that person being Dr. M.L.H.

During the last few days and the next few, the emphasis should be not so much on the man but his mission. We must not allow ourselves to raise Dr. King to the level of deification - only one man born of woman has & deserves that privilege and that's Jesus Christ.

M.L.H. would like for us to use this occasion for the dedicating or re-dedicating of our lives to the social, educational, political and economic liberation of all God's people - Red, White, Black & Brown.

You might recall that M.L.H. died in Memphis where he had gone to try & help the garbage workers. King more like Jesus than any other human beings, with the possible exception of Gandhi gave his life for the cause for which he lived.

We still have all the ills in our society for which King worked so hard to try and eradicate: the homeless, the poor, the sick, the elderly, the oppressed, ^{the ignorant} and on and on —

You can best remember Him by working, as He did, to improve the conditions of all God's children —

I love you
