

Almighty God, you have asked that, as good citizens, we render to "Caesar the things which are ~~due~~ Caesar? And to God the things which are yours. We pray that as government leaders focusing on the many problems of our cities, states, and national government, that what is done in the name of Caesar will be done under your guiding and protective eye.

As we gather this morning our hearts go out to those states being decimated by the floods. As in the past, O God, it is times like these that the strength of our people show forth. Cause ~~of~~ us ^{to} realize that whatever befalls one state befalls us. Give us the will to pull together during these trying times.

As our legislators gather in this Convention, O God, deliver them from selfish partisan politics and work for the good of all their people in their states.

May each attendee return home with a clearer of what needs to be done back home, to help them adequately serve their people.

Give each of our political leaders courage and wisdom for the living of these days. Amen!
