

question: "If the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?" In his audience were parents whose sons had been destroyed in the war and their faith was tested severely. One answer he gave to the psalmist question: "When the foundations are destroyed, what can the righteous do?" was this, "they can go on being righteous." They can hold on to their faith in the love of God, and go on being strong. Dr. Speer could not explain such a tragedy but he was able to overcome it; and by overcoming it, he turned it into an opportunity to prove to other men and women the livableness of life.

There are ~~three-~~ times when you cannot keep from asking Why to save your life. That is natural, and you need not blame yourself for doing this; you are entitled to all the light you can get. But you will be a much happier person if you make up your mind to move out of the land of Why and enter into the country of How. When you do, you will find that Paul is a good man to get to know...
