

Almighty God, we bow before you this day - the beginning of our Communication Workers Conference, to ask your blessing upon all their deliberations. Grant that their aim may be the provision of the means by which all persons may have the benefits of a fuller life and a more secure living.

We pray for all these workers. We thank you that you have given both substance and spirit to proletarian freedom, in which the well-being of all can flourish.

Gift each of them to a new spirit of service, and let that spirit be humble trust.